

2020 PhD Program Fair Space Request

The 2020 APPAM Fall Research Conference in Washington, DC is fast approaching. Given the success of past PhD Program Fairs will once again host the Fair at this year's conference in DC. The Fair is open to any policy PhD program that is interested in sharing details of their program with conference attendees, though space is limited and can be reserved on a first come, first served basis. Each space includes a six-foot, draped table with two chairs. Please submit all space requests no later than September 25, 2020. Space is complimentary for APPAM Institutional Members and $150 for non-members.

The PhD Program Fair will be held on Friday, November 13th, 12:00 pm – 1:15 pm. A program representative is required to staff the booth for the full event time. The event is open to all student attendees not currently enrolled in a PhD program as well as any attendee who does not have a doctorate degree. A complimentary light lunch will be available to all attendees and program representatives.

To help students identify programs of interest at the Fair, please complete the information form below. This information will be listed in the event program.
