Why should my organization participate?

APPAM will host 1,000+ student members at our Annual Fall Research Conference, all of whom have the opportunity to participate in the Career and PhD Program Fair.

This diverse group of student members are from top undergraduate, master's, and PhD programs around the country studying policy, public management, public affairs, economics, health policy, political science, and data science. Many APPAM student members are on the job market and ready to begin their post-graduate careers.

Additionally, the 50+ diversity, equity and inclusion (DEI) travel fellowship recipients will be on hand to meet with potential employers, as well as local students and recent graduates from area schools.

How to Participate?

Any college, university, institution, or organization that has an interest in hiring policy research professionals is welcome to reserve a table at the Career and PhD Program Fair at no cost. Employers and PhD programs do not need to be APPAM members. Participating employers are not required to be hiring or recruiting for a specific position. Representatives will be expected to speak to APPAM members about possible careers and provide information about working in the field in general and in their organization specifically. This is a great opportunity for brand recognition and to engage with students and future potential employees!
