

Steps to Register for APPAM Conferences

APPAM conferences have many attendees but only one registration form. Whether you are registering yourself, an employee, or group of employees this can all be done following the instructions below.

1. Registering yourself, someone else, or others?

APPAM does not have a group registration form. Due to the various registration options, employees or their assistants are encouraged to register individually.

If you are registering yourself and already have an account, please login with this account. If unable to login or reset your password, please contact registration@appam.org.

If someone has asked you to complete registration for them and they have an APPAM.org account, please ask them for their account information. If they do not have an account, you may create one for them and use their information so that you do not accidentally register yourself.

If you have been assigned to register multiple individuals, you may do so with their login information as explained above. A second option is to have them register themselves and submit invoices to you for payment. Refer to Section 2 of this guide for details.

Completing Registration:

To avoid adding a membership to the invoice, select No, Thank You on the first page of the form labelled Membership:
